<td>The Max Planck Society brings together the best scientists from all over the world. According to the motto of Max Planck Insight must precede application the Max Planck Society conduct basic research in the natural sciences, life sciences, and humanities. The Max Planck Institute for the Science of Human History (MPI-SHH) in Jena was founded in 2014 to target fundamental questions of human history and evolution since the Paleolithic. We welcome proposals that fall into all our research areas; for more information see our website. If you are interested in our institute as your host institution, we would ask to send a CV and 3-page proposal outlining the research project, professional development and dissemination plans to the contact person Dr Bettina Bock by August 15, 2021 (for MSCA 2021).</td>
